This course examines major Korean film genres (blockbuster, crime thriller, Western, historical drama, sci-fi, horror, melodrama, social satire, etc.) and their contemporary canons within local sociopolitical, cultural contexts. A particular focus will be given to Bong Joon-ho’s internationally acclaimed genre films including Parasite, the winner of the 2020 Academy Best Picture Award. Screenings include Bong Joon-ho's crime thrillers Memories of Murder (2003) and Mother (2009) and his science fiction films The Host (2006) and Snowpiercer (2014) as well as other notable genre films made by Bong’s contemporary Park Chan-wook (Joint Security Area [2000], Sympathy for Mr. Vengeance [2002], and Oldboy [2003]). The final week of the course will culminate with an in-depth analysis of Parasite (2020), comparing it with Bong's inspiration and classic thriller The Housemaid (1960) and another contemporary film about class warfare Burning (2019).
